The Steel A&W Action Team completed 140 hours of service for Ability Works/MDRS (Mississippi Department of Rehabilitation Services), logged 86 visits, and traveled 240 miles. This team's purpose was to advocate in the community for Ability Works and to educate their potential clients about the GED and Drivers Education tests. Steel A&W worked with three locations on the Mississippi State University campus and three locations in the community to inform and advocate for Ability Works' purpose. They also taught clients life skills for job placement and independence, and prepared them for the GED and Driver's Education test. With their project, Steel A&W hoped to, "spread the word about Ability Works and make them a more popular resource among the community."
