During the Day One 2008 semester, The Kiwis Action Team completed 168 hours of service for the Boy Scouts of America, logged 75 visits, and traveled 447 miles. The purpose of their work was to “identify and utilize our leadership skills, become good role models, encourage the Scouts to identify and enhance their own special talents.” Part of The Kiwis service project was to develop an MSU homecoming float for the Boy Scouts of America, Pack 11. They assisted the Cub Scouts in building the float within a fixed timeline. In addition to the float’s construction, this team also planed the Rain Gutter Regatta race. During this event, The Kiwis helped develop activities and games for the Cub Scouts to participate. Not only did The Kiwis create and plan the aforementioned two projects, but they also attended the weekly den meetings and played various games with the Cub Scouts. Through this project, The Kiwis hope to stir up excitement in the Scouts and in the parents in such a way that they continue to be involved even after the team is not associated with the Cub Scouts.
